DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 44-52 depend either directly or indirectly upon cancelled claim 25. For purposes of further examinations, claim 44 will be interpreted as being dependent upon claim 26.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 26-43, drawn to a high frequency plasma beam source.

Group II, claim(s) 44-54, drawn to a method for irradiating a surface with a plasma beam.

If a reference teaches these common elements, the requirement of unity of invention will not be satisfied. Matsuo et al., US 4,401,054, and Ahn et al., US 2002/0185374, disclose each common element:

- A high frequency plasma beam source (Fig. 3);
 - Wherein the plasma beam is of a divergent shape (10, 14-19);
- A plasma chamber (21);
- Electrical means (37, 38) for igniting and sustaining the plasma (8, 6-32);
- A metal extraction grid (41) (7, 63ff);
- An outlet opening (34).

Rather than biasing the extraction grid, Matsuo biases the susceptor (27). Ahn, however, disclosing a plasma deposition apparatus, electrically biases an extraction grid (118) to control the plasma deposition rate, thereby indicating that biasing grid to control plasma deposition is a suitable alternative to biasing a susceptor for the same purpose (Abstract, [0034] – Ahn).

In light of Matsuo and Ahn, the above elements collectively are not technically significant under PCT Rule 13.2, Section 2. As such, the claims do not satisfy the requirement of unity of invention.

A telephone call was made to James Crawford on April 14, 2008, to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Art Unit: 1792

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of an invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
